

ruling race ix&anw French or Lalm rather than Norman. The chrcmiclurs of the eleventh century 8pt»ak of tho newcomers more often us
 '/'«»$-
alpini" Hum otherwise; as if they understood that the followers of Guiseard and Richard were drawn from a wide area of Pnwee.
 The first binhops and ablmis of Sieily under ihu ne.w regime arts generally found lo be Freneh or Norman-French ; on the mainland the neea are al«o invaded by compatnoU of OuiHt^ard.¹ Under Roger II.
 we find official)} sueh as Rolmrt t»f Selhy, OuaHn, and Thomas Brown who an? Fritrieh c»r at least Anglo-Normana, His two su«v*u^r» again in-stalktd several Norntatt'ICngHKh tit high eccicmaatical and ofTieial ixmt«; nwh wen* Herhctrt of MiddUutex, Arc;htHuhop of C>>fnp*»i, Richard Palmer* Bishop of Syraeum*, anti thejpt^after Arrhlnsihop of Arehbi«lu»p of Palermo, i ifH>-i 187, «ind hk brother Bartholomew, Bishop t*f i*irj*t'nti, It WIMJ after the death of William L thai tht* titot amtudtrable attempt wan matle to add to ttw pun*Iy French elements, Stephen of Perdu*, the ytrtm«motfwr*§ couHtn, mmi)ii(iiu*d by hvr to Sieily and modo Chani^llor ami Arehbiuhop of Pidrrmo, re-8{ttm.tthU for mi influx t»f Fntnch which and angered lx>ih the noblim und

